

D&H Engineering, Inc.

Quality Policy

D&H Engineering, Inc. conducts its business with a total commitment to their customers, and their requirements. They strive to continually improve the effectiveness of their quality management system, and consider internal and external changes in environment, risk assessment, and varying needs of both company and customers. This will be achieved through the efforts of all team members working together using innovative ideas to improve their processes, products, and services to exceed both the customers' expectations and the company's business plan.

Name: Dickran Shahbazian

Date: 03/10/14